

About Go To The People

“Go To The People” (GTP) aims to provide a platform for the sensitive and restless youth who want to understand WHY, WHAT and HOW about themselves, about society and about challenges surrounding them. GTP is about youths who want to meet restless people like themselves who love to follow their heart using the brain. It is about getting a chance to meet experienced travellers on the similar path and listen to and learn from their experiences. It is about developing skills to understand a problem and the various ways to deal with it, individually and collectively. It is about building a family of socially sensitive individuals from various fields across India, tied together with deep bonds of friendship, acting as a support system for each other. Finally, it is about finding oneself and choosing to live a meaningful life.

So GTP aims at helping spirited young individuals realize their potential to contribute toward social good by encouraging sensitivity, social awareness, value-based life and understanding the challenges while searching for a life goal for themselves, through a series of structured camps.
